

These are some heartfelt words for the man who has inspired me the most in life, from his proudest fan. I am not worthy enough of commenting on how great a cricketer you have been. But I really want you to know how big an impact u have had on my life. I guess I am 1 of those rarest fans who started idolizing “GAUTI THE HUMAN” first and then became the biggest fan of “GAUTI THE CRICKETER”. Idolizing you has been the best thing ever. There was a point when I had completely given up on life. I am not sure if I should say it but I really want u to know how important u r to me. So in 2016 my father passed away nd that also a week before my engineering entrance exams. You were the biggest reason I could somehow gather myself nd sit not only for that exam but face the reality with courage. Till today I haven’t coped up with the biggest loss of my life nd I never will but u give me the strength 2 fight my own battles. You have given a new meaning to the life of this 20 year old girl. In today’s world, u are a blessing gauti. U r 1 celeb people can look up to. You have taught me to lead life with dignity and certain principles. I owe u everything sir. Thank you for existing. There is so much more that I can’t put into words. All I want 2 say is I have as much love nd respect for u as I have for my parents.

With lots of love nd best wishes,

Ankana Bhattacharyya.
